A great achievement is being trumpeted: Union govt fiscal deficit falls to 5.6% against an estimated 5.8% in 2024. But doesn't the law of a 3% fiscal deficit apply to the Union Govt? They who take up cudgels against state governments' noncompliance have not complied with it even once.

Kingpin of Iran-based organ trade racket nabbed from Hyderabad

The accused, who connected victims to mafia, was caught while he was planning to leave country

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kochi

THE kingpin of the Iran-based organ trade racket, who connected victims to the mafia was nabbed from Hyderabad on Saturday. Ballamkonda Ramaprasad aka Prathapan, 41, a resident of Vijayawada, Andhra Pradesh, was picked up by a special investigation team (SIT) led by district police chief Vaibhav Saxena. The accused was arrested while he was planning to leave the country, said an official.

"The arrested was the kingpin of a major organ smuggling racket operating in the country. He was the chief coordinator of organ trade. He was responsible for finding the donor, conducting medical examination and ensuring that the person was medically fit to donate organs," said Vaibhav Saxena, Ernakulam district police chief. When we zeroed in on the accused, he was hiding in a hotel, he added.

Police take the accused for medical examination on Saturday (inset) Ballamkonda Ramaprasad | EXPRESS

Thrissur in connection with the organ harvesting case led to the arrest of Ramaprasad. The accused persons in the racket are suspected to be involved in largescale kidney trade.

The accused focused on illiterate rural people and entangled them in the organ trade. They earned ₹50 lakh to ₹1 crore for each organ, but only ₹5 to ₹6 lakh was given to the donors, said a police official. A probe into the links of The gang mostly targeted gul-

Pradesh, Maharashtra, Hyderabad, and Delhi. A youth from Thirunellayi in Palakkad was the only person on the list from Kerala, he said.

Ramaprasad himself approached the racket for the first time to donate a kidney. However it failed as he was found to have contracted some diseases during medical examination ahead of the harvest.

Though his efforts to donate his kidney failed, he realised the vast opportunities of the illegal trade. Later, he made contacts with the organ trade racket and became an active link in the trade. The racket and its financial deals were centred in Iran, the officer said.

Madhu, a resident of Kochi, was leading the operations of the racket from Iran. As per reports, he had arrived in Delhi last year. The trio involving Ramaprasad, Sabith Nasar, and Madhu formed a shell company for the financial transactions, which was controlled by Sajith Shyam, who has already been detained by the police.

Explaining the modus operandi of the accused, the police officer said, the organ smuggling racket contacted the donors through social media platforms.

Later, Ramaprasad contacted the donors and sent them to Iran after completing the medical formalities. Sabith, based in Iran, received the donors and ensured that they returned home after the organs were harvested.

Committee suggests appointment of senior Cong leader as KSU in-charge

CYNTHIA CHANDRAN @ T' Puram

IT'S RELIABLY learnt that the inquiry committee also made a veiled attack on Leader of Opposition VD Satheesan, as it blamed Aloysius for being part of a faction in the party. A party source told TNIE that the panel received more than 100 complaints from KSU activists against the student organisation's leadership.

"The committee members deliberately delayed the final report so as to distance themselves from the 'power struggle' between Sudhakaran and Satheesan on the issue. They have urged Sudhakaran to apprise the NSUI and AICC leaderships about the serious lack of discipline and decorum showed by the KSU leadership, for which corrective steps should be taken. Earlier, Aloysius and his team were engaged in a similar incident at their study camp at a resort at Ramakkalmedu in Idukki," said the party source.

While putting the entire blame on the KSU leadership, the committee also urged Sudhakaran to appoint a senior Congress leader as in-charge of the KSU. Following the resignation of KPCC vice-president V T Bal-ram, the then in-charge, two years ago in protest against the incumbent state and district leaderships of the KSU, Sudhakaran had not appointed a replacement for him. This had resulted in the camps not having an officerin-charge.

MAJOR FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE INQUIRY PANEL

newindianexpress • com

Lack of discipline throughout the duration of the camp. The KSU leadership did not seek the cooperation of KPCC and the service of a camp officer

A KPCC office-bearer should be appointed as in-charge of KSU urgently

■KSU leaders who showed serious lack of discipline and those holding decorative posts should be removed

KPCC should appoint a committee to bring about complete changes in KSU

■If there is a difference of opinion among Congress leaders, KSU should not be a party to it

■The camp should have given guidance to activists, but instead it sent out a wrong message

Sole responsibility of the clash lies with KSU state leadership

Siddu, Shivakumar get bail in defamation case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE 42nd Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Court on Saturday granted bail to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar in a defamation case filed by the BJP.

Judge K N Shivakumar directed Congress leader Rahul Gandhi to appear before him on June 7 without fail.

The BJP had filed a private complaint accusing these leaders of defaming it through advertisements in newspapers on May 5, 2023, ahead of assembly elections in the state.

Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar, who are second and third accused, respectively, submitted applications seeking bail.

Rahul, who is the fourth accused, did not appear before the court on Saturday despite an exemption from appearance given to him on April 29.

He sought one more exemption stating that he could not appear because of a meeting of the INDIA bloc leaders.

The BJP's counsel objected to Rahul's application stating that he had already been given an exemption. He cannot escape from appearance as all are equal before law. The court should not exempt him from appearance and issue a warrant against him, he argued.

Rahul's counsel argued that the Congress leader's absence was not intentional. The court has the power to give exemptions as per the latest judgment of the apex court, he said.

THE SPECIAL Investigation Team (SIT) probing the alleged sexual assault cases involving Hassan JDS MP Prajwal Revanna will soon request Apple to give access to its servers to gather evidence against him.

A source in the SIT told TNIE that the Criminal Investigation Department (CID), under which the SIT functions, has been requested to help it get information from Apple. "Besides the statements of the victims, evidence in the form of texts, pictures, videos and locations from Apple's servers will strengthen the cases," the source said.
